Federal Government

The Esri User Conference has many presentations and events with hundreds of topics covered. To help you find your way to the Federal Government sessions and events, we have prepared a more focused agenda.

Stop by to explore how US federal agencies use GIS to address a wide variety of national issues. Hear directly from agency representatives and see interactive special displays highlighting key federal initiatives such as climate resilience, open data, and even how Congress is utilizing GIS to improve public policy decisions and better communicate with the public.
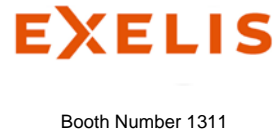

This year's showcase will also feature a special display on tribal GIS. The Esri federal team will be on hand to answer your questions on geospatial technology in federal government.
